THE BEST IT COULD BE

Summer vacations were over and the bells rang again. Old friends and new faces roamed the campus while teachers prepared for the long year ahead. To the excitement of many, school had started.

This year involved many changes. With fewer buses running, more students walked to school. The lucky ones drove; at a cost of $50.00 per parking space! It seemed like everything cost more. Athletes were paying more to participate in a sport, some students paid to ride a bus, and even lost absence slips were a dime! But through it all, we made this year the best it could be!

Everlasting Friendships

The return to school for most people meant the rekindling of old relationships and the development of new friendships as well. Throughout the year, the time between classes and at lunch was usually spent with good friends or someone special. Many times, when things weren't going right or if a problem arose, our friends were always there to give us an extra lift to make it through the day. Sociology teacher Mr. Bruce Layne has his own description of a friend. He tells his students, "A friend is someone you can grow with." The relationships we have started here at R.H.S. will be treasured in our memories forever.

A NEW BEGINNING

When scheduling time came around every year, we usually became frustrated and confused because of the wide variety of classes to choose from. Whether our interests were in fine arts, physical education, work-study programs or academically oriented studies, we had our choice of different kinds of classes.

Ranging from biblical literature to aviation class and sociology, we had our chance of progressing and gaining knowledge. Underclassmen registered for prerequisite courses such as biology and geometry.

"I love it. It's interesting and fun,!" fun,!" exclaimed sophomore Kris Cook as she described Mr. Anderson's health class. Sophomore Rich Greenberg's favorite class is biology because he enjoys dissecting the green slimey frogs.

"Trig is a senior's nightmare," exclaims Bo Watkins.

Math is a tedious job, but somebody has to do it.

GOOD FEELINGS

To break the routine of studying, we ventured into other activities. Acting in the spring play, sweating it out on the playing field or just lounging around in the courtyard were ways we broke loose from the binds of school. We sought adventure as we skied down the snowy hills at Clear Fork for the first time and shared in the excitement of watching our champion volleyball team make it to the Regionals. We searched for more and found it!

Senior Cheerleader Kathy Fitzgerald devotes a lot of her time to perfecting cheers for the RHS varsity squad.

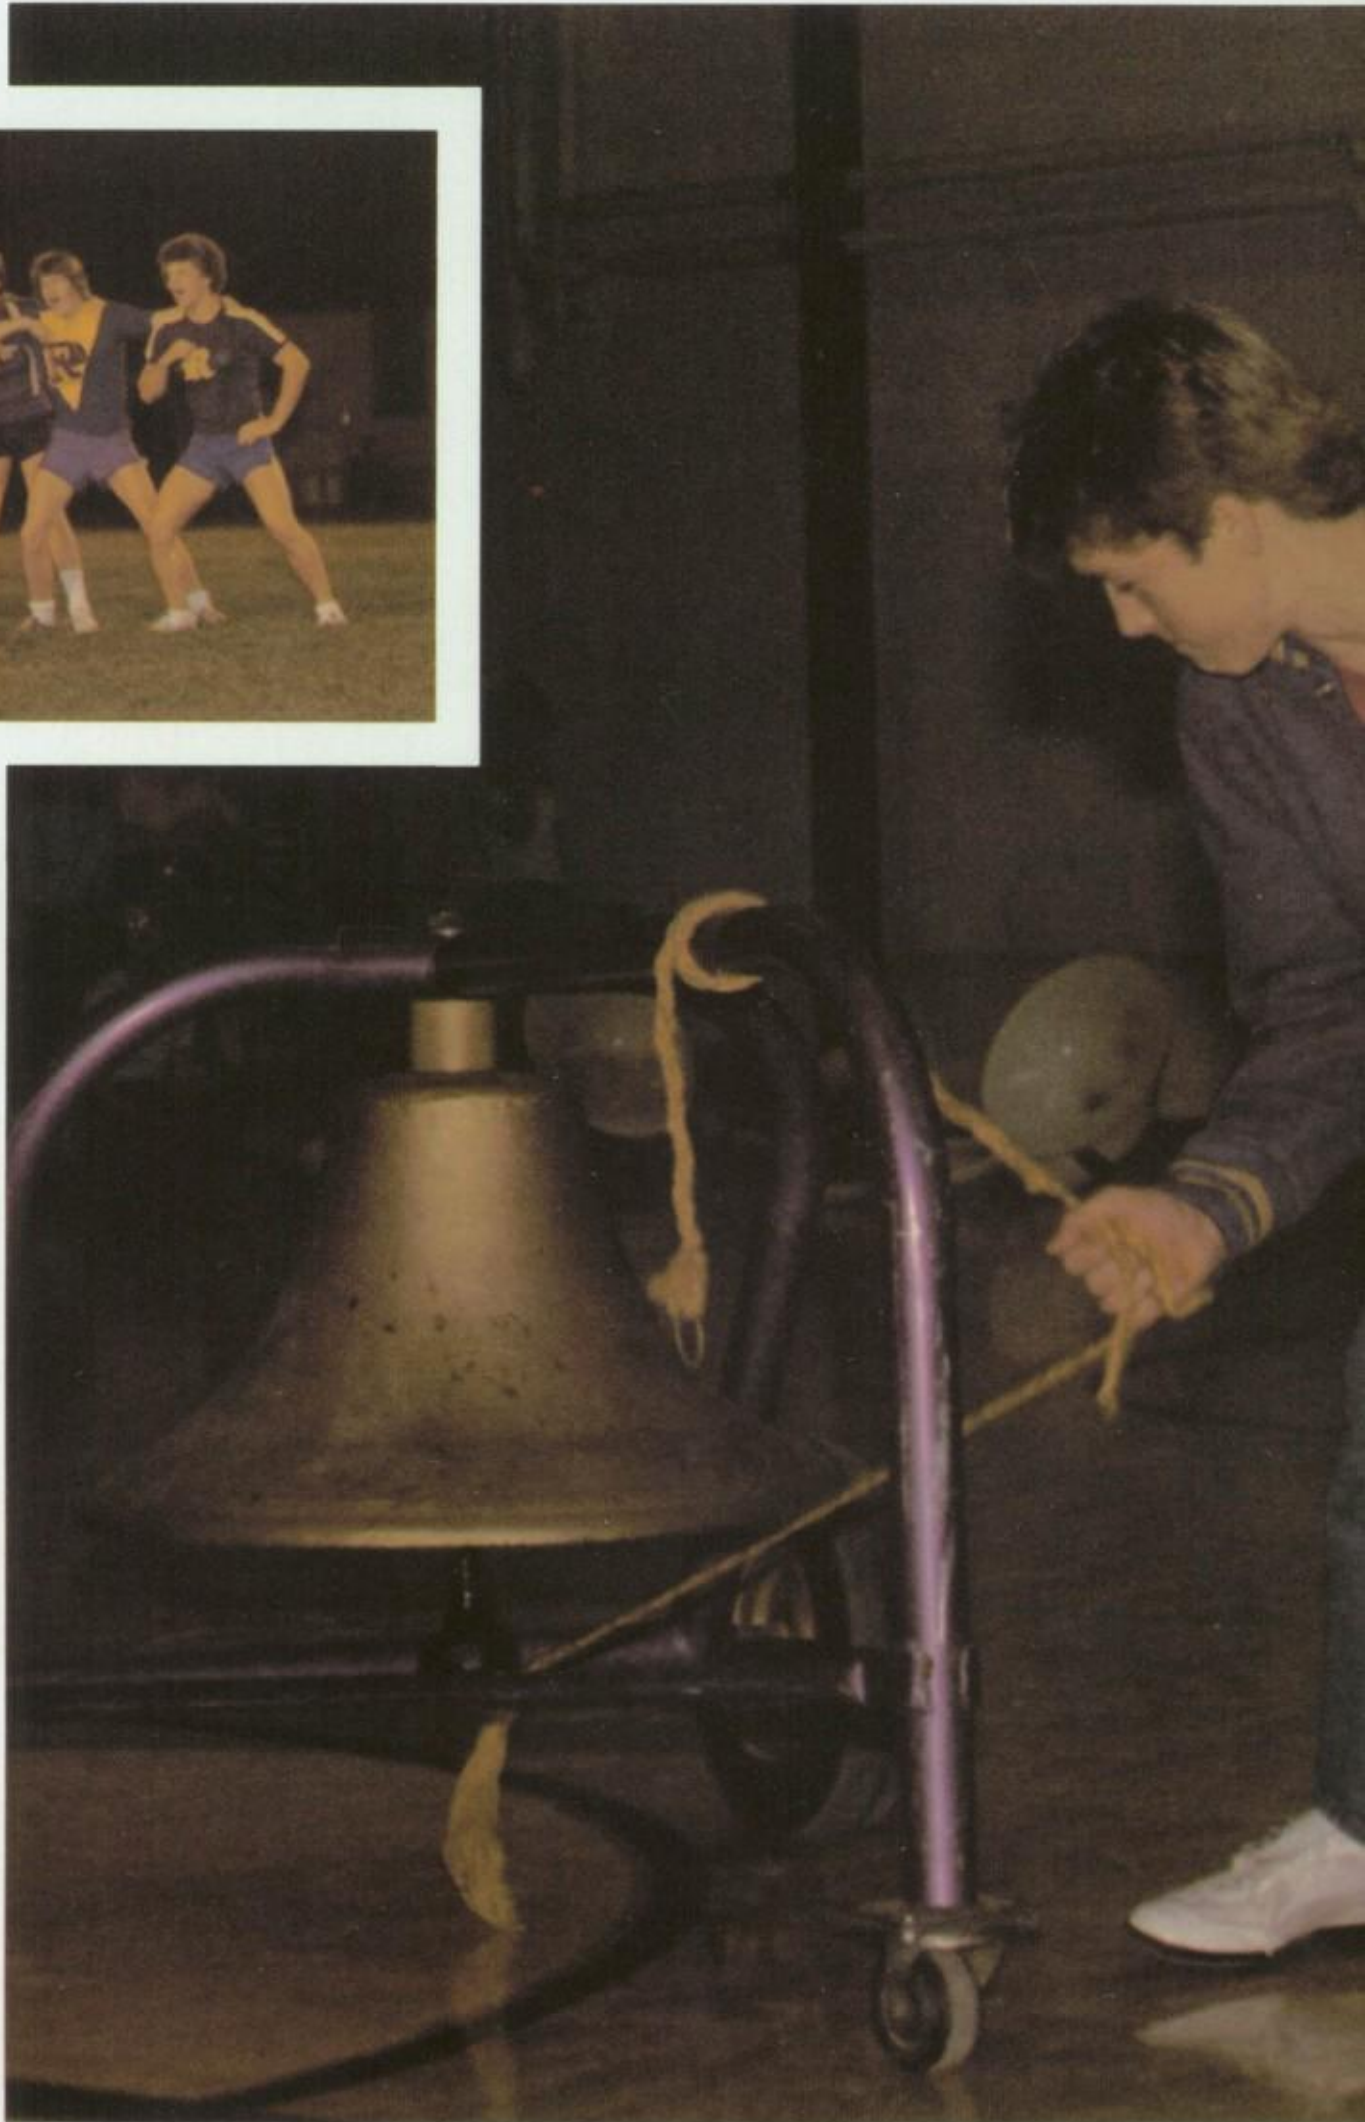

SPIRIT the Pride of RHS

Whether it's on the playing field or in the classroom, the enthusiastic students of RHS show their Raider Spirit. Everything turns to shades of purple and gold when Friday rolls around. Rowdie Raider teachers even participate with t-shirts, signs and Mrs. Zeches' famous spirit buttons. By working together, we produce victorious teams and a Raider Pride that no one can break.

ACTIVITIES

A Week Of Memories

A major event in the hearts of many Reynoldsburg High School students is Fall Homecoming Week. During this special week, many different events occur, including Hall Decorating which the Senior Class of '83 won for the second consecutive year. Also, there is the annual girls powderpuff football game where the seniors again emerged victorious. Punk day saw many different colors of hairdos and wild outfits. The students seemed to love to "let it go" and dress as wild as possible. Andy Travis said "I thought all the clothes were neat." During second period on flower day, pink and white carnations were passed out by student council members. The flowers were sent by friends and lovers. Margaret Miller said, "I liked this day because I could let that special person know how I felt. The highlight of the week was the football game and the crowning of the queen, as well as the 1983 Fall Homecoming Dance that followed the game. The unforgettable memories of this week will be remembered forever by everybody involved and in the pages of this yearbook.

EXHIBITION OF SPIRIT

The beginning of Homecoming Week brought a tradition at RHS: Hall Decorating. The seniors, juniors, and sophomores spent several weeks preparing decorations in hopes of a victory for their respective classes. Each class was designated a different hallway and the competitive talent between classes became apparent. In the end, the seniors were awarded first place, followed by the sophomores, and last, the juniors. It was an event that was enjoyed by all.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors alike, display their school spirit by competing for the Raider Award. Reynoldsburg Raiders shine bright through their Pep Assembly enthusiasm.

You Asked for It — You Got It!

As homecoming week began to reach its peak, many RHS girls, seniors and underclassmen alike, prepared for their annual Powderpuff clash.

Finally, both teams met on the football field. During the first quarter, the senior offense could not break the underclassmen defense. No points were scored.

In the second quarter, the underclassmen were forced to punt. A bad snap out of the end zone for a safety put the seniors ahead 2-0. Later, senior Kerri Sauls returned a blocked punt 46 yards for a touchdown. The half ended with the seniors on top, 8-0.

At halftime, the crowd was entertained by the hilarious "Generic Band" with their own rendition of "The Flintstones." Also featured were the lovely Powderpuff cheerleaders.

The second half found both defense stiffening, allowing no points. Final score: seniors 8, underclassmen 0. After the game, the seniors chanted, "Eight to zip, seniors rip!"

As evening fell upon Reynoldsburg High School on Oct. 1, 1982, excitement began to fill the air. It was Homecoming Night and as the stands filled with enthusiastic Raider fans, the spirit of victory could be felt by all. The evening began with the entrance of the Marching Raider Band including an added feature. The band was joined on the field with a makeshift alumni band dating back to graduates of 1965. Members of the Homecoming court were presented with a train of convertibles during pre-game. The game proved to be a battle of pride as the Raiders tamed the Westland Cougars by a score of 17-0. Half time provided Reynoldsburg High with a new reigning Homecoming queen; Becky Mansfield. The entire night was an exhibition of true Raider Pride.

A Night Of Royalty

One of the many highlights of homecoming week was the crowning of the queen and her court. Becky Mansfield, escorted by Doug Kisor, was crowned 1983 Homecoming Queen at the Friday night football game against Westland. The crowning took place during halftime of the 17-0 victory over Westland. Becky received one dozen red roses, along with the game football signed by all the Raider team members. The 1982 homecoming was truly a night of royalty.

PRECISION & DEDICATION

Loud crisp beats of snare drums echoed in the night. The attention of the crowd was directed toward the field. Proudly marching in new uniforms of stunning purple and gold; the band appeared. DO IT!

As Marching Band season came to a close, tryouts for the Concert season were held. Symphonic Band met fourth period under the direction of Daniel Nawrocki. Symphonic Band performed throughout the year in several concerts and often made guest appearances at music conferences.

Much time was devoted to preparing and perfecting music for District and State Contests. Over the years the B.D.B.I.T.S. has established a reputation for ratings superior at these contests and this year was no different. The band held up the pride behind the letters B.D.B.I.T.S.

Making Music

After the new uniforms were stored, a new season began for the bandies. After tryouts were out of the way, the band separated into two groups: Symphonic and Concert Bands. Concert Band met fifth period with Daniel Nawrocki. They participated in various concerts throughout the year, including Solo and Ensemble Competition.

Stage Band met eighth period and rehearsed popular, up-beat songs that were to be performed at organizational dinners and concerts. This group of interested musicians added a little jazz to the music program at R.H.S.

Sing Me Away

Highly talented students made up the choir and ensemble this year. Under the direction of Mr. Joseph Thrower, the groups performed in and outside of RHS. Both groups, noted for their superior ratings at district and state level contests, continued their winning streak in 1983. Both the choir and ensemble brought home superior ratings at Districts and State. One could only enjoy the beautiful voices heard in the halls of building two this year.

Compass

The Compass is our monthly published school magazine. Under the leadership of co-editors Kim Schumaker and Kirsten Hanson, the 1982 publication took on a new and different dimension. This year the Compass staff held their annual cheese sale. With the profits, most students traveled to Chicago, the windy city, for the weekend of November 18-21. After the new recruits caught on to the staff's routine, the magazine began to take shape. "We've come a long way since last year. With a smaller staff it can sometimes be frustrating, but we work together pretty well," commented Kim Schumaker. The many hours that go into each page of the Compass are evident in the finished product.

The Insane Ones

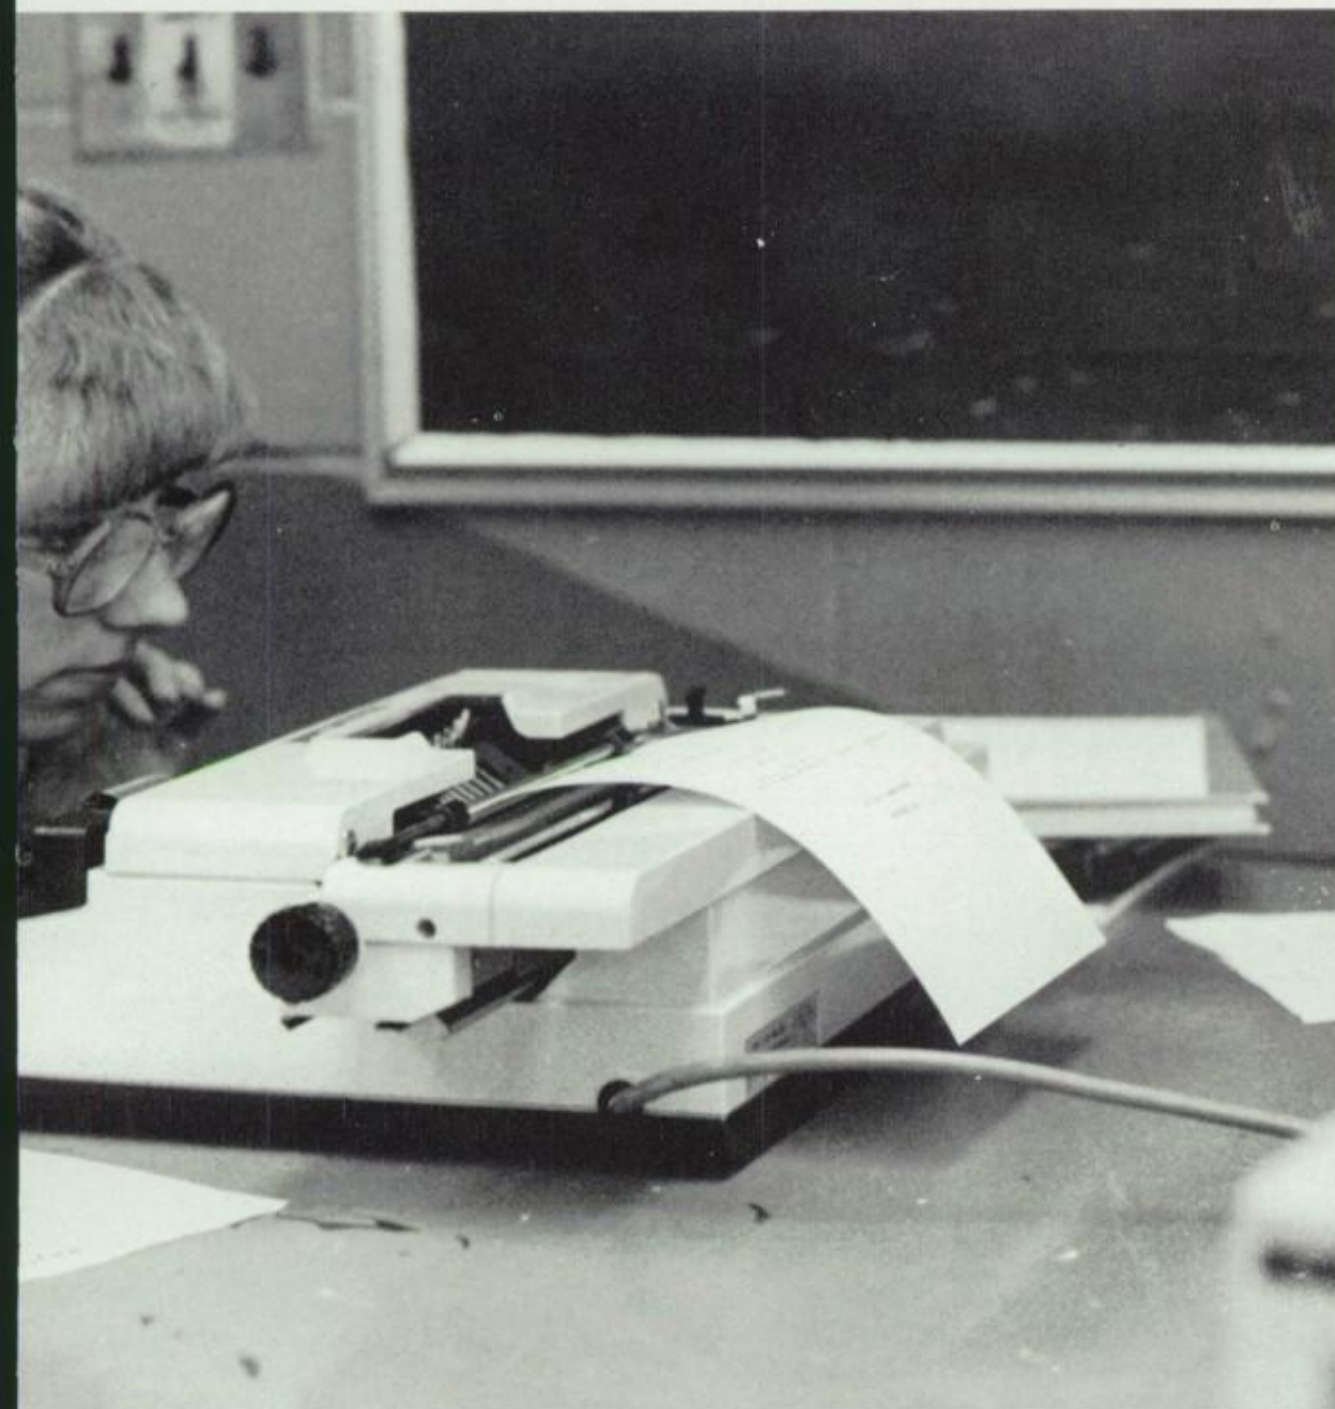

Many staff members began working in June by attending week-long yearbook workshops at Kenyon College and Ohio University. A portion of the week was spent learning the basic do's and don'ts of making a yearbook. The other part of the week was spent playing volleyball, relaxing and going to Toga parties. By the time school began, the Reynolian staff was ready to go. Layouts were designed and pictures were taken. By the time Christmas rolled around, the yearbook had come to a standstill. Due to conflicting attitudes, the staff received counseling from Larry Schollenberger and made a day of it at the Reynoldsburg Counseling Center. After all the problems were resolved, the staffers tried to work to their fullest potential and pitched in to make this the best Reynolian ever.

This year during spring break twenty-one art students and six chaperones went to New York City. The students left Port Columbus early in the morning March 24th and returned Saturday evening March 26th.

While in New York, the students experienced many aspects of culture. The group went to China

Town, Little Italy, and The Empire State Building. The students also visited The Museum of Modern Art, The Metropolitan Museum, and the Cooper Hewitt Mansion. They also shopped at many popular stores such as Sax's, Macy's, and some designer stores on 5th avenue.

DECA

Retail marketing and distribution is the main course of study for the Distributive Education class at RHS. General studies included key knowledge relating directly to the business field. Later in year, students branched off into more specific areas of training and competed with other schools in their respective fields. With much encouragement from the DECA coordinator, Phil Knox, Reynoldsburg has maintained an excellent record in the DECA competitions. The 1982-83 class was no exception, winning outstanding honors both at District and State contests. On a more personal side, students learned a great deal about human relations and developed their own styles of professionalism. From first hand experience, they became confident in their handling of day to day business affairs.

Mr. Joe Jamison was quoted as saying that "you can always tell a DECA student . . . LOUD!"

All In A Day's Work

C.O.E. (Cooperative Office Education) is a vocational program in which the students learn about the general routine of business offices. In this program, students go to school for half a day and work for the other half in various offices in the community. Students receive salaries which range from $3.35 to $5.00 an hour. In the office, students are responsible for typing, filing, preparing reports, answering the telephone, and other typical jobs. In the classroom, the C.O.E. students learn how to run various machines such as the new word processing machine, calculators, transcriber, and electronic typewriters. There is also a C.O.E. club in which students compete with other C.O.E. students in various contests. C.O.E. is an office education program that gives seniors an inside look at how way businesses are run.

EASTLAND CAREER CENTER

Hands On Experience

The key word at Eastland Career Center is experience. Although books seem to be a part of any learning institution, students at Eastland left their books behind and replaced them with tools of their trade. Computers, automobile engines, hammers, hair dryers and adding machines became a part of their busy days. Approximately 40 students from Reynoldsburg attended Eastland Career Center to become acquainted with all aspects of their chosen field. This enables each student to join the working class immediately after graduation.

Vocational Choices AT EASTLAND CAREER CENTER

Eastland Career Center's 1982-1983 school year enrollment consisted of 58 RHS Juniors and 24 RHS Seniors. These students hope to obtain enough practical experience and training that will lead them to an occupation after graduation.

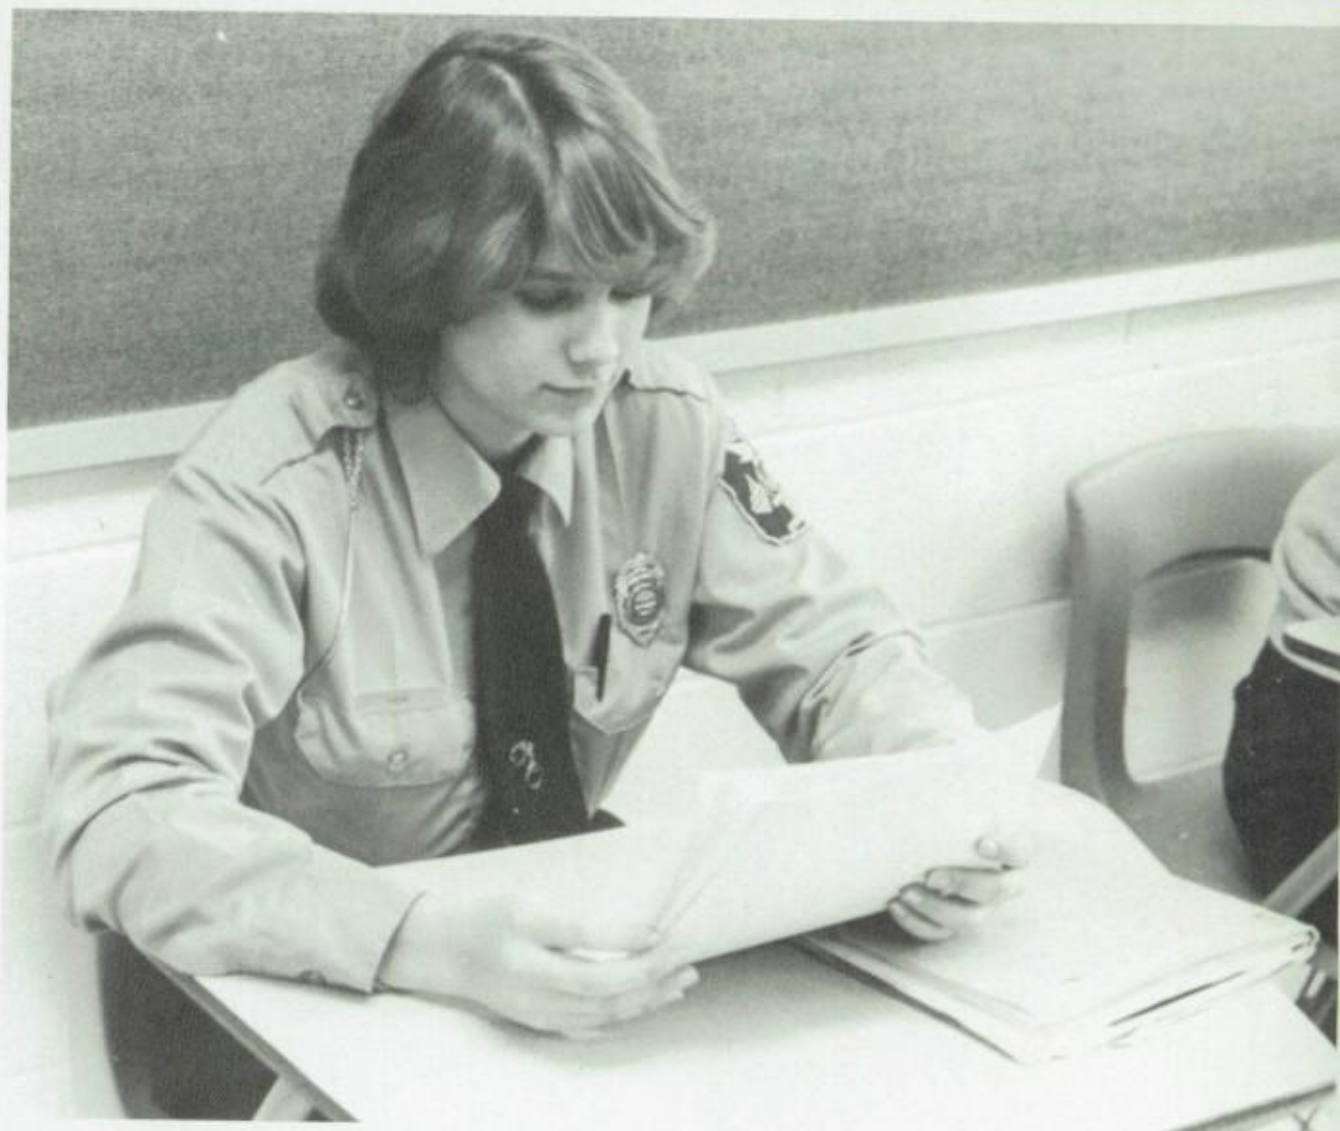

Each of these students is enrolled in a two year program of their choice selected from the following:

- Agricultural and Industrial
- Mechanics
- Auto Body Repair
- Auto Mechanics
- Construction Carpentry

- Cosmetology
- Data Processing
- Dental Assisting
- Design Drafting
- Electronics
- Electricity
- Food Prep and Service
- High Skill Stenography
- Horticulture
- Lab and Medical Assisting
- Law Enforcement
- Machine Shop
- Office Machines
- Office Printing
- Welding

ANOTHER CLASS ACT

The 1st Annual Tomato Town Follies was presented on November 12th and 13th this year by drama teacher Mr. Bill Gathergood. "The Tomato Town Follies — A Class Act," was the theme of this year's production. Heidi Mayhew and Doug Motz led the show as the announcers, presenting a wide variety of selections including several vocal solos, duets, dances, parties and comedians. Members of the "Riot Squad" provided the show's comic relief between scenes.

With only three weeks to develop and stage, talents were quickly brought forth once again producing an excellent show. Mr. Gathergood was pleased with the students' performance. "It went pretty well this year — I'm surprised!"

FUN FOR EVERYONE

This year's Winter Homecoming was held the week of January 24th through 28th. It was the student council who kept everyone's morale up, while the student body anticipated the upcoming dance. Carrying on the tradition, the student council assigned each day of the week with a different dress code. On Monday morning students strolled into school with their hats and sunglasses; on Tuesday they walked two by two as some students dressed alike. Wednesday was punk day and Thursday students dressed in their best clothes. Friday students dressed in purple and gold. During the week, several students collected money and the two students from each class who collected the most money participated in the ice cream eating contest. At the Friday pep assembly the seniors were represented by Jon Rowling and Matt Mondlak, the juniors by Chris Mercer and Bill Reed; and Donny Wells and Ron Bowers represented the sophomores. The winners were Chris Mercer and Bill Reed.

Friday, January 28, the Winter Homecoming Court was introduced to the student body during the assembly. Last year's Queen, Chris Faust, crowned an overwhelmed Sherri Olsen while Adam High congratulated our new king Todd McGee. The Court included:

Snow Blind

Every Wednesday night following an exasperating day at school, approximately 50 RHS students transformed themselves into Ski Bums at Clearfork Ski Resort in Butler, Ohio. The skiers, ranging from novices to experts, were members of the Reynoldsburg High School Ski Club. The students braved the bitter cold each week to challenge the mountainous southern Ohio region. Advisors Mr. Schollenberger and Mr. Lawrence braved the slopes with the students. Despite the lack of snow at the beginning of the skiing season, the 1982-83 Ski Bums proved they loved to ski!

Exchanging Cultures

The American Field Service student chapter had an active year here at R.H.S. Two foreign exchange students were welcomed into the senior class — Marta Ficarra from Argentina, and Anneli Lekberg from Sweden. Exchange students lived with a Reynoldsburg family, giving them the opportunity to compare American home and school life to their own. In their free time both girls got involved in school activities, and often gave public speeches for different community organizations. New friends were made among the student chapter and the exchange students. The club sponsored many activities and a few fund raisers this year. On December 4, 1982, the club traveled down to King's Island to celebrate the park's first annual International Winterfest. In late winter the officers invited four other central Ohio exchange students to spend a weekend in Reynoldsburg. All members planned the weekend's agenda — pizza party, basketball game and ice cream parlors, movies and a farewell potluck dinner. Fund raisers included the revised Pilgrims, pizza sales, and a small international cookbook that was sold to the community. "It's a small club, but I have met so many people from different schools and countries — and they're all good friends," commented senior member Tricia McKinley about A.F.S. — a club that turns places into people.

WILD WEEK!

Spring Fling week at RHS allowed students to participate in the daily activities planned by Student Council students. Tired of the bleak, dreary weather and the normal school routine, students had a chance to let loose and take part in a pre-seasonal celebration. The lunch olympics brought the athletes out in all of us and the car rally let us be A. J. Foyt's! The week came to a close with the Sadie Hawkins dance where the guys were picked up instead of the girls!

THE SPRING FLING CLIMAX

The Spring Fling assembly brought Spring Fling week to a humorous end. The awards for the car rally and lunch olympics were handed out. The teachers also had their traditional wagon race. The feature event was of course the legs contest. Senior Doug Gosnell did a fantastic strip tease and won the contest by a landslide. That evening, girls escorted their guys to dinner and dancing. All in all, Spring Fling was a success.

Students Rule

During the 1982-83 school year, Student Council, under the leadership of Mrs. Katterheinrich and President Ken Snare, carried out different and unique projects to make RHS a better place to be. This group of elected officials and non-elect members provided an outlet and inlet for student ideas and response. Student Council sponsored many events directed toward the student, such as Fall Homecoming, Winter Homecoming, and Spring Fling, as well as working on projects to improve RHS and the community. Student Council gave the student body at RHS a chance to work as one and achieve goals that would benefit all.

International Travelers

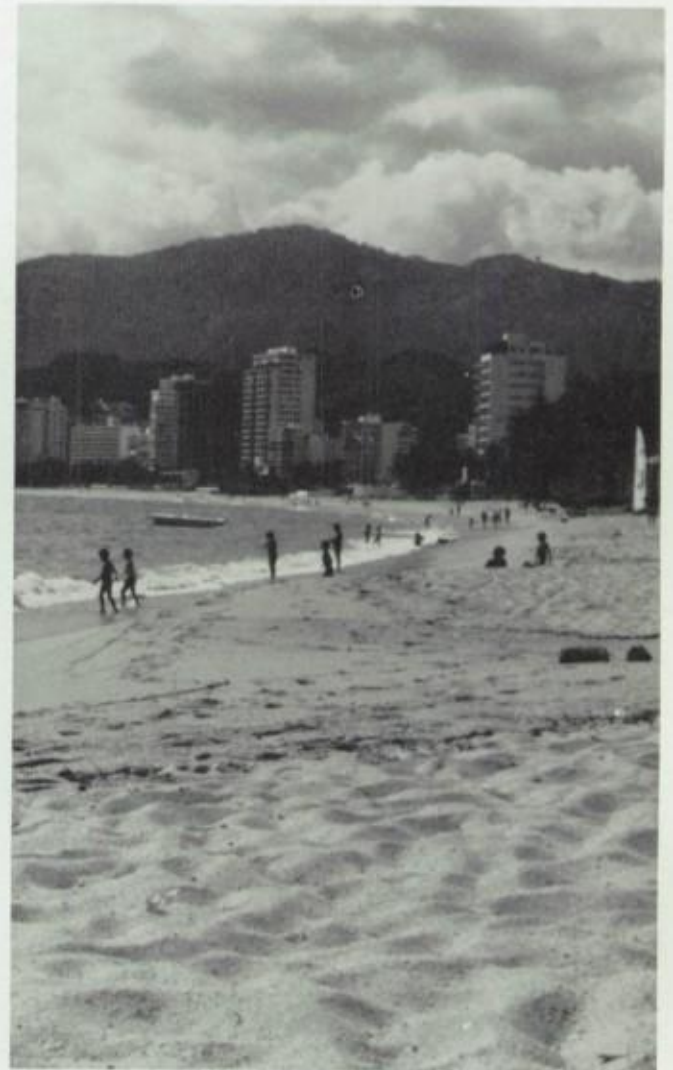

During the summer many RHS students journeyed to other parts of the world. Some went to Mexico, others went to Germany. The summer held adventure, excitement and memories for these lucky students. The Mexico trip included parasailing, visits to pyramids and lots of shopping. The German students enjoyed the scenery and history of Switzerland and Germany. Both trips departed in early June and lasted ten days.

Tugging Towards Victory

When Jack Maxton Chevrolet announced the tug-of-war contest for the toughest high school team, Reynoldsburg was anxious to participate for the title. "When we first went in, we weren't expected to do anything, but we came through," described Barry Titman, the team captain.

Ten guys competed against seventeen other schools. The preliminary match was held on Saturday, October 2nd. The team from Reynoldsburg went on to defeat Groveport and Linden McKinley, placing them in the finals the following Saturday. According to senior Richard Proebstl, defeating Groveport was the highlight of their competition because the Cruisers outweighed the Raiders by 66 pounds. The team went on and defeated Worthington and Columbus South but lost to DeSales in the finals which placed the Raiders in third place.

Determination and concentration is the key to winning.

The Raider Football Team began an intense weight training and conditioning program on April 4. Coach "Ike" informed the players that, "If you don't lift, you won't play football for Reynoldsburg." Many players found the weight program beneficial to the team. Senior quarterback Matt Kallner stated that, "The weight program probably cut down on a lot of injuries." Junior safety Shannon Kenney agrees, "Weight lifting is the most important aspect of the game." The players worked out two hours, every other day, until the start of the season. Senior John Perkins sums up his feelings about "pumping iron" by stating that, "Lifting has really helped me get stronger and it greatly affected the overall attitude of our team."

The Reynoldsburg Raider Football Team took on a brand new look during the 1982-83 season. New uniforms, a new system, and a first year head coach were just several aspects of the game to which the players had to adjust. Coach Charles Eichinger took over the job early in 1982, and by the start of the season, central Ohio knew that Reynoldsburg Football was for real. The Raiders were 2-1 in scrimmage games, destroying Mifflin and Walnut Ridge before losing to Columbus South. The regular season opened with a heart-breaking loss to neighborhood rival Whitehall; however, the Raiders won their next two games, humiliating Bishop Hartley 20-5, and defeating Pickerington 19-7. The league opener was lost to Westerville South by a score of 14-12, but the Raiders bounced back and ripped Westland 17-0, for a Homecoming victory. The gridgers finished with a 3-7 record, losing to such state contenders as Upper Arlington, Gahanna, and Groveport. Despite a somewhat dismal end to the season, a major goal was reached. The Reynoldsburg Raiders struck fear in all their opponents, and gained respect as the most vicious hitters in the O.C.C.!!!

Raider Spirit

The 1982-83 Reynoldsburg High School cheerleaders truly represented our school with great spirit and pride. Following tryouts in April, 1982, the varsity and reserve squads worked hard all summer to prepare for the 1982-83 football and basketball seasons. The cheerleaders spent a week at the University of Cincinnati learning new cheers and competing in a competition. Both squads took top honors at UC in both cheers and pom pon routines. Throughout both the basketball and football seasons, they maintained a high level of spirit and provided refreshments for the players. Shortly after basketball ended, the cheerleaders competed in a national competition at the Ohio Center and took second place honors. All in all, 1983 was a great year for the Reynoldsburg cheerleaders.

successful by 4 wins and 3 losses. Showing extra ability and enthusiasm, Senior Mary Bravard competed against fellow runners and placed fourth in district competition. This was a great accomplishment for the Girls' Cross Country team.

The Reynoldsburg High School soccer team suffered some difficult frustrations this season. Raider soccer players competed against some of the best talent in the Ohio Capital Conference. First season coach David Freud, along with Mr. David Lawrence, worked with the athletes to discipline themselves into learning many new skills. "Our coaches support us as a team. We work together, not individually," senior Mike Ferguson stated about the new coaching team. The team's losing record didn't stop their ambition at the start of each and every game. The Raiders kept fighting back on the stadium lit soccer field, working on team effort. All sport programs are bound to run into setbacks, but there's only one way to go . . . and that's up!

The Girls Volleyball team finished the 1982-1983 season with an outstanding 22-5 record. The Raiders had seven returning seniors from last years 17-5 squad. "This year," stated Coach Brian Strohm, "I said to the team and to a large crowd at a booster meeting that we could get to the state tournament. Strenuous and intense practice sessions were very important in improving team skills and techniques. Megan Michelli commented that "The team developed a unity which is not present in lesser organized volleyball teams." The girls wound up the season in second place in the O.C.C. The reserve compiled an equally impressive record of 11-5.

The varsity team won the District Championship and went on to defeat Upper Arlington in the Regionals, 15-1, 15-12. The Raider's hope of a state title was shattered when Elida defeated them 12-15, 15-12, 15-17. All O.C.C. honors went to Janet Ryll and Shavonne Williams, and Meagan Michelli was honorable mention. Rodney Royster received OCC Honorable Mention while Lance Rhodes received All OCC, All District, and All State honors.

Showing excellent form, Senior Scott Newpoff tees off at an important OCC match.

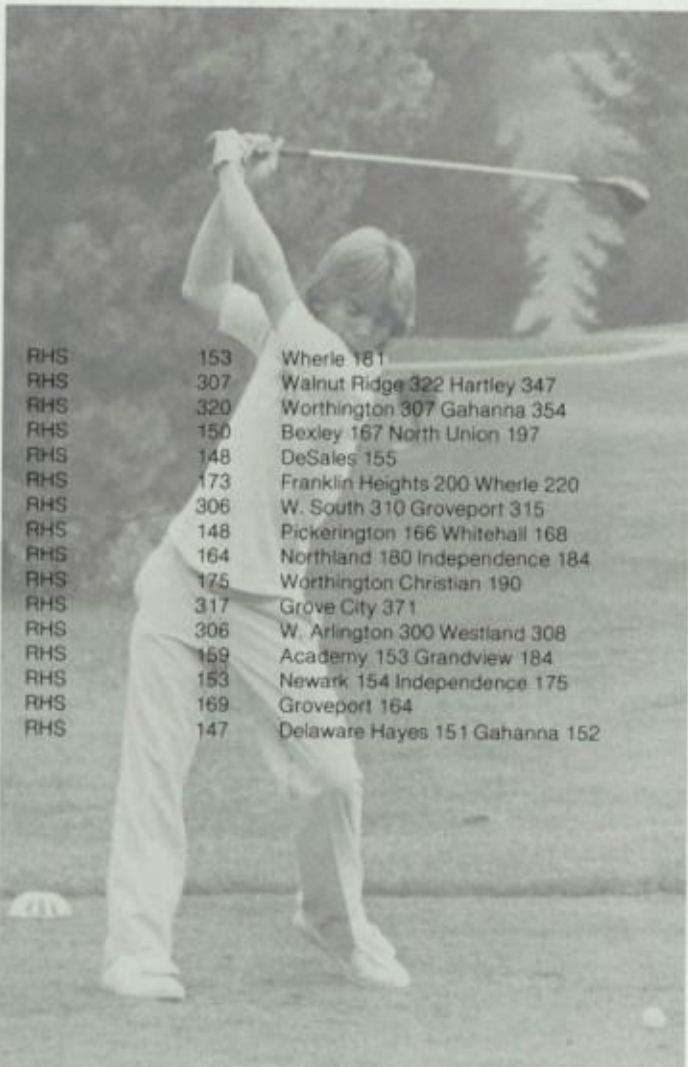

The golf teams enjoyed an outstanding season in 1982. The varsity finished with a 23-4 record and 5-2 in the tough OCC race. They finished second in the twenty-eight team sectional tournament field and fifth in the district tournament. The sophomore dominated reserve squad won fourteen and lost only four times.

Junior Lance Rhodes achieved individual honors as he was chosen All OCC, All District and All State. He finished in seventh place in the Triple A state tournament. Sophomore Rod Royster was placed on the second team of the All OCC squad. Senior Scott Newpoff, junior Joe Miller, sophomore Kevin Creager and junior Tom Sampson all made important contributions to the varsity's success.

Juniors Joe Lucas, Grant Moss, sophomores John Shedenhelm, Dave Robinson, Ron Bowers, Mark Brewer and Bryan Holliday helped the reserve team in their excellent season.

Age was an important factor on this year's wrestling team. With only two seniors returning, Coach Blackburn relied on the abilities of the sophomores and juniors. The most surprising performance was given by Sophomore Rob Kennedy. As the heavyweight wrestler on the Raider team, he faced more experienced and larger opponents. Due to his skills and capability as a wrestler, he arose victorious. With his thoughts toward the future, Coach Blackburn feels that the Raiders will rank superior in the O.C.C.

Stats for the Mats

Under the leadership of Mr. Blackburn, the matmaids produced a great season. At every meet, the Raider Wrestlers were met with signs, cheers and enthusiasm from the matmaids. Keeping things under control were the officers: President, Senior Debbie Dandurand; Vice President, Senior Julie Mulisano; and Secretary, Senior Chris Bennett. Senior Nancy Eftimoff summed up the season by saying "We all had a great time this year. We met many people and really enjoyed ourselves."

The Reynoldsburg Boys' Varsity and Reserve Basketball teams finished the year with somewhat disappointing records of 5-16 and 4-17, respectively. Many of the losses were due to a tremendous lack of height, with the tallest player standing six feet, four inches tall. The season began with several non-league victories. The Raiders soundly defeated neighborhood rival Walnut Ridge. In the Whitehall game, the Raiders were hurt by injuries. Senior guard Dave Starner was lost for the year due to a knee injury and junior center Steve Stewart was sidelined for most of the winter with torn ankle tendons. The league competition proved to be overwhelming as the Raiders competed with such powerful teams as Worthington, Groveport, and Grove City. They did, however, end the season on a bright note with an exciting 65-63 victory over Gahanna. Jim Watkins sank a key fade away jumper at the buzzer to secure the victory. Co-captains Matt Kallner and Todd McGee received All-OCC with Kallner making first team All-OCC, and McGee receiving Honorable Mention. In addition, Kallner was selected to the All-District team, the Citizen Journal Top 30, the All Metro team, and will play basketball for Wittenburg University. Despite the lack of wins during the 1982-83 season, the Raider basketball team maintained a positive attitude and lots of Raider Pride!

The Raider Girls' Basketball team rounded out the 1982-83 basketball season with an outstanding record of 19 and 5. Coach Brian Strohm and his team were crowned OCC champs along with Groveport and Westerville South. After winning the sectionals of the Girls' State Basketball Tournament, they were eliminated in the first round of district play.

Much of the team's success this year was attributed to their ability to maintain a stingy defense without sending their opponents to the free throw line. All OCC honors went to Janet Ryll, Shavonne Williams and Pam Laake, while Becky Malloy received OCC Honorable Mention. Team honors included: Most Valuable; Janet Ryll; Most Improved; Chris Weir.

After losing some key players, the Raider Tennis Team had to regroup. Singles and doubles players were chosen early and the team improved as a whole. With girls on the team, the Raiders took on a new look. The girls played tough and won most of their matches. Overall, the net results were excellent.

Rain played a big part in this year's Raider Baseball season. After postponing or canceling a few of the first games, the Raider team started hitting. The team provided their audiences with excitement and wins as they batted their way through the season. The team, as always, performed with excellence and expertise. Overall, the team had a great season.

Lady Raider Batters

The Lady Raiders discuss a crucial play on the pitcher's mound.

Concentration and precision was the key to the Lady Raiders success this year.

Experience was a key factor in the excellent season produced by the Lady Raiders. With the varsity team being dominated by Seniors, the exhibition of talent and teamwork burst out in every game. The sophomores and juniors also aided in the production of the Softball Team's excellent record. The experience is now theirs.

FACULTY

Strong leadership plays an important role in the operation of a school system. A combination of diverse personalities and vast participation in school activities are two qualities which the leaders of the Reynoldsburg School District are noted for. The system is headed by Dr. Denisar. The Board includes Jane Klein, Donna Baker, Jim Thompson, Herb Chamberlain and Candy Cook. Under the outstanding leadership of these fine citizens, Reynoldsburg, as a school district, has greatly prospered. Despite budget cuts and a lack of funds, the faculty and students of RHS are confident that school conditions will improve.

Dr. Denisar

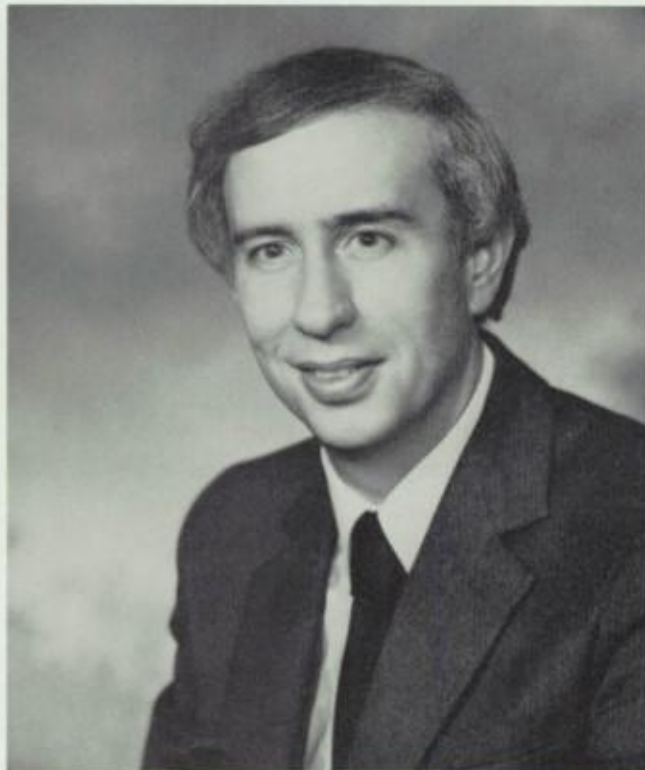

LEADING THE STAFF

The administration at Reynoldsburg High School remains unchanged from last year. At the helm once again for the 1982-83 school year is Principal Robert Worrell. His basic duties include the smooth operation of the high school, as well as helping with the direction of athletics. Assistant Principals John Schiller and Margaret Katterheinrich make up the backbone of our administration. Mr. Schiller works with disciplinary action and attendance while Mrs. Katterheinrich helps with discipline and Student Council. The RHS administration does a wonderful job in the operation of our school.

MIDNIGHT ENGLISH

College preparatory writing courses are just several of the outstanding English classes available to students at RHS. as a sophomore, one might take Introduction to Theme Writing. This course is an excellent prerequisite for Theme Writing, which is generally taken by juniors. As a senior, one has three options: Major American, Rhetoric, and World Literature. These courses conduct an indepth study of ancient and modern literature and perfect the writing skills of the college freshman. Mrs. Becky Green, who teaches all three senior courses, says that "I will prepare you for college, or you'll die trying." Despite the extra work involved with each course, students will find the classes worth their time.

NEVER A MINUTE TO SPARE

They say a secretary's work is never done. This saying is especially true when referring to the secretarial work at RHS. Mrs. Summa, who works in the Building 3 office, is an administrative secretary. One of her main jobs concerns the many school funds, where she acts as a banker and cashier. She does all administrative typing and deals with the school budget and requisitions. Mrs. Eck, who works in the guidance office, also carries a heavy work load. She authorizes the enrollment and withdrawal of students and controls the flow of students who wish to visit the counselors. Most of her work in the spring involves typing senior transcripts to colleges. Mrs. Willis is in charge of attendance. Every day she compiles the attendance sheets and authorizes passes for the students.

A New Beginning

The beginning of the school year not only brought about many expected changes, but a new sophomore class as well. For many members of the class of '85, the transition from junior high to high school came easy, while for others it was more difficult. Ron Brown found no trouble getting through the day and he really enjoyed the open lunch, which was not available at the junior high. Another sophomore stated that finding classrooms was much harder than last year because of the three buildings at the high school. Tom Sasfy enjoys the teacher-student relationships and feels it is much easier to get along with the faculty at R.H.S. Although the sophomores began the year with apprehension, they found Reynoldsburg High School both a pleasant and enjoyable experience.

Biology I provides the class of '85 with a unique experience. At the turn of the semester, the naive students wander into class to find an amphibious creature pinned to a tray. Little did they know that this specimen would be the subject of frog dissection for the next few weeks. Although for some it was a sickening experience, the majority of the sophomore students found it was the highlight of this class.

Sophomore Spirit

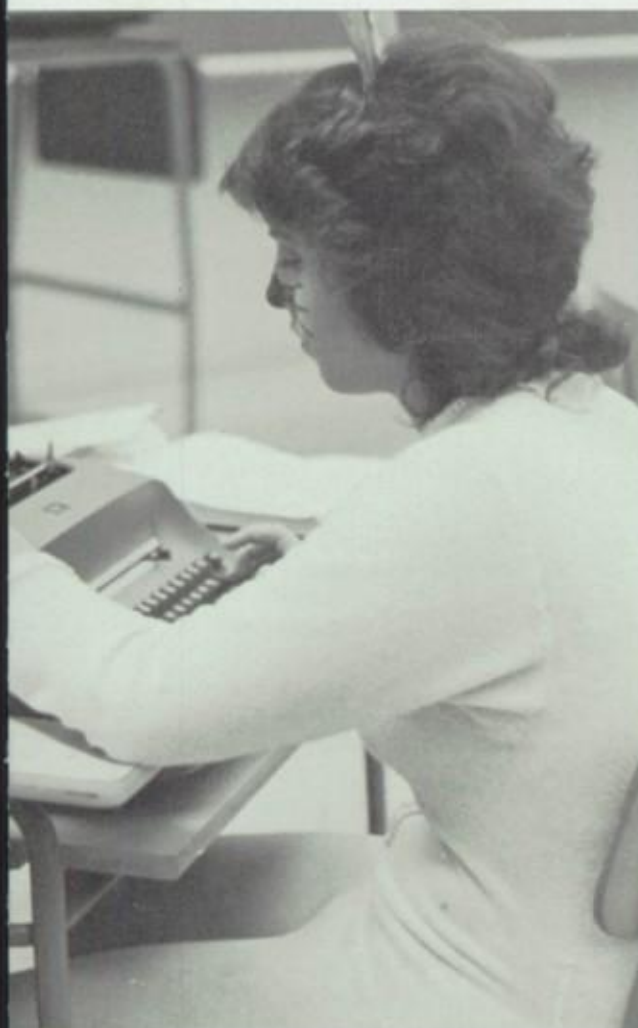

Many sophomore classes are known for their lack of spirit. RHS; however, the class of '85 has definitely disproved this theory. The sophomores have displayed this pride in many ways. Besides placing second in the homecoming decorating contest, they have also won the spirit award several times at this year's pep assemblies. The enthusiastic spirit of the sophomore class has not only contributed to the overall spirit of the school, but will definitely carry throughout the next two years.

Class rings were just another added attraction to the class of '85's first year at RHS. It was their second year at RHS and they made it a great one! The class of '84 made sure that everyone knew who they were. It was not uncommon for the whole junior section to stand during pep assemblies and never sit down. This earned them many spirit awards. Their magazine sale provided all prom-goers with a spectacular and elegant evening. With all this under their belt, the up and coming seniors of 1984 will be a class to watch out for.

The defeat of the Spanish Armada was in 1588 . . . or was that 1598? Ask any junior, they're sure to know! American History is a required course for juniors who intend to graduate in 1984. Though there are different teachers, all students are lectured and quizzed over famous historical events. Working on maps and reports, otherwise known as contracts, are also a part of learning U.S. History. At the year's end, juniors are not only wise to the outline of our nation's history, but are now ready to face the challenge of . . . American Government!

JUNIORS

J-U-N-I-O-R-S! We are the Juniors and we are the best! There's no doubt about it — the class of 1984 is definitely enthusiastic! Spirited juniors crowd together at pep assemblies showing their pride in all Raider sports and activities. Rowdy Raiders even managed to capture the spirit flag a few times this year. NHS members, old and new, and their parents enjoyed a reception preceding the ceremony.

Great Achievers

Excitement and nervousness filled the gym as the National Society members began to tap the new. As the parents filed in and the new members were lined up, President Tammy Beckett began the ceremony. After introducing the present members and giving a little history about National Honor Society, Tammy introduced the new inductees. These fifty-seven students were selected for their leadership, scholarship, service and character. Then, the candles were lit. The activities were conducted by President Tammy Beckett, Vice President Mary Bravard, Secretary Nancy Efimoff, and Treasurer Pam Moore. Following the assembly, the parents and members enjoyed a reception held in the Media Center.

Caps and Gowns

As they filed into the gym, the Seniors of 1983 held in their hands the first step toward graduation: the caps and gowns order forms. After Mrs. Zeches or Mr. Knox measured your head, Mr. Jamison or Mr. Sammons told you how tall you were. From all of this, the Seniors were able to complete the order forms and were on their way to May 23, 1983.

Students Govern the Burg

The Reynoldsburg Jaycees once again sponsored Youth in Government Day at RHS. Hopeful Seniors raced around school, petitioning signatures from registered seniors. As election day fell upon them, all waited to hear the results. As the excitement settled, the elected officials looked forward to their tour of the city. After visiting such places as the Sewage Plant, Police Department, and Fire Department, the officials held their own council meeting. For everyone involved, it was a very enjoyable and memorable day.

Tuxes and Gowns

Flowers were ordered, tuxedo's rented and that long formal gown was finally taken out of lay-away. Most prom-goers rose bright and early Saturday morning, May 7th, so that last minute tasks could be completed. The guys spent most of the day washing and waxing "Dad's" car and picking up flowers, while the girls were kept busy ironing their dresses and setting their hair. All efforts proved worthwhile as two typical high school students emerged as two elegantly dressed people glittering brightly in the light of flashbulbs.

No, It's Not the Golden Arches

For most couples, the evening of Prom began with an expensive dinner. The most popular places this year were: One Nation, Coco's and Bryn Mawr. The formal atmosphere of these restaurants went right along with the attitudes of the elegant diners as they enjoyed deliciously prepared meals.

Being the lucky man that he is, Senior Brad Bennett gets his picture taken with two senior beauties Chris Bennett and Jodi Bowers.

Prom was held at the Valley Dale Ballroom. The prom committee did an excellent job of setting a romantic mood in this huge ballroom by adorning tables with candles and flowers. The band, Jazz for Dancing, entertained the couples with a variety of fast and slow tunes. All prom-goers tried their hands at formal ballroom dancing. Overall, it was an elegant and enjoyable dance.

Memories

Afterprom, held at the IBEW Hall, began at 1:30 a.m. Here, dressed in jeans, weary, but smiling partiers, let loose and danced to the music of Pure Jam. While many danced, others enjoyed cookies and punch. Following afterprom, those who could still Serving as class president for the graduating class of 1983 has been a relatively easy job for me. This great class has pride, spirit, and most of all, this class has class. With these elements, any class leader may represent his class and be very proud of it.

Graduates at Last

Upon entering high school at the freshman level, we not only controlled the atmosphere of that small world, but were dubbed by the Junior High faculty and administration as "the best class ever to go through there." The highlight of our freshman year, being the Annual Freshman Basketball tournament, united our class as we all cheered our beloved team on. And, of course, no one could possibly forget the dances at the Junior High.

As we came to the educational institution we call The High School, many of us were petrified but we came in with our heads held high. We soon let our presence be known as we began to make a name for ourselves at the pep assemblies. Even as sophomores, we were recognized by the school as a potentially great senior class.

Free at Last

Our Senior year began with a very exciting and eventful football season and another Hall Decorating crown. The Senior Powderpuff team won a hard fought game. A junked car was even placed in the courtyard of building number one, a stunt that will never be forgotten. Again we owned the assemblies, which completed our reign as spirit award winners. A winter without snow accompanied our Christmas break and with 1983 right around the corner, it was hard to believe that diplomas would soon be in our hands. Although many cliques were formed, as a class we remained together and united. The school's girl's volleyball and basketball teams successfully led by our phenomenal girl athletes, advanced all the way to the state regional tournament and brought OCC Championships to RHS. Of course our D.E.C.A. class kept the strong winning tradition at Reynoldsburg. Winter Homecoming and Spring Fling soon passed by with all of our eyes looking forward to this unforgettable night. When we finally found Valley Dale, our Senior Prom and especially After-Prom turned out to be a great evening. One week later, our high school days were finished with a flourish and hopefully with a bang.

The great class of 1983 will never be forgotten. Although no one student, teacher, or administrator can take full responsibility for the success and accomplishments of our class, we can hold our heads up high and say with that never-forgotten Raider Pride, "WE DID IT!"

The Tassel Was Worth the Hassle

Tonight has finally arrived. After 13 long years of elementary, middle, junior high, and high school we are graduating as the class of 1983. As we look back on our careers as students, high school probably stands out as our best years and our brightest memories. It seems like only yesterday we were frightened, nervous sophomores looking for classrooms and spilling milk shakes on our laps. It was only yesterday that we learned to march to music in commencement practices. Between those events, three years have transpired that have given us some of the best memories of our lives.

Our sophomore year was one of new and exciting events. The three buildings at RHS were totally new and frightening; we thought we'd never be able to remember where to go and when to get there. As the year progressed, we fell into the routine of every sophomore class. We got sick while dissecting frogs in biology class, and we froze outside in gym class while trying to "commence firing." The biggest event of the year was receiving our class rings, because that meant we were finally high school students.

As our junior year began, our class began to establish a style apart from the seniors and sophomores. Our spirit was shown when we won the hall decorating contest during Homecoming Week, and our enthusiasm was shown when we collected a record amount during the magazine drive.

Our senior year was undoubtedly the best and most memorable. Our class pulled together to lift the school's spirit at a time when levy failures and contract stalls were getting everyone down. Just when things were getting dull around RHS, a few people in our class parked a Volkswagon where people couldn't help but see it. "No Loitering Zones" went up around teachers' classrooms and the Raider Rock changed colors faster than we changed classes. A pizza delivery was made to Mr. Jamison's 7th period government class and donut runs were popular during our final year at RHS. Nothing slowed our sense of humor down, not even official formal passes, and hall monitors who asked for them. Prom gave us a valid excuse to stay out all night with the one we cared about, and the numerous football and basketball games gave us a chance to be with friends and show our spirit.

It seems like only yesterday our biggest problem was remembering which building all our classes were in. It was only yesterday we gathered in the courtyard to hug each other and say our tearful goodbyes. The last three years have given us many memories, most are good, all are important. They helped shape us into the people we are today. Our high school years will live in our minds for a long time and in our hearts forever.

Futures

Your best friend has been waiting to go to the army. Your boyfriend has been talking about technical college. Your cousin has been applying for five different scholarships, and everyone from your parents down to your shabby old doll looks at you with the same question: "What are you going to do after graduation?"

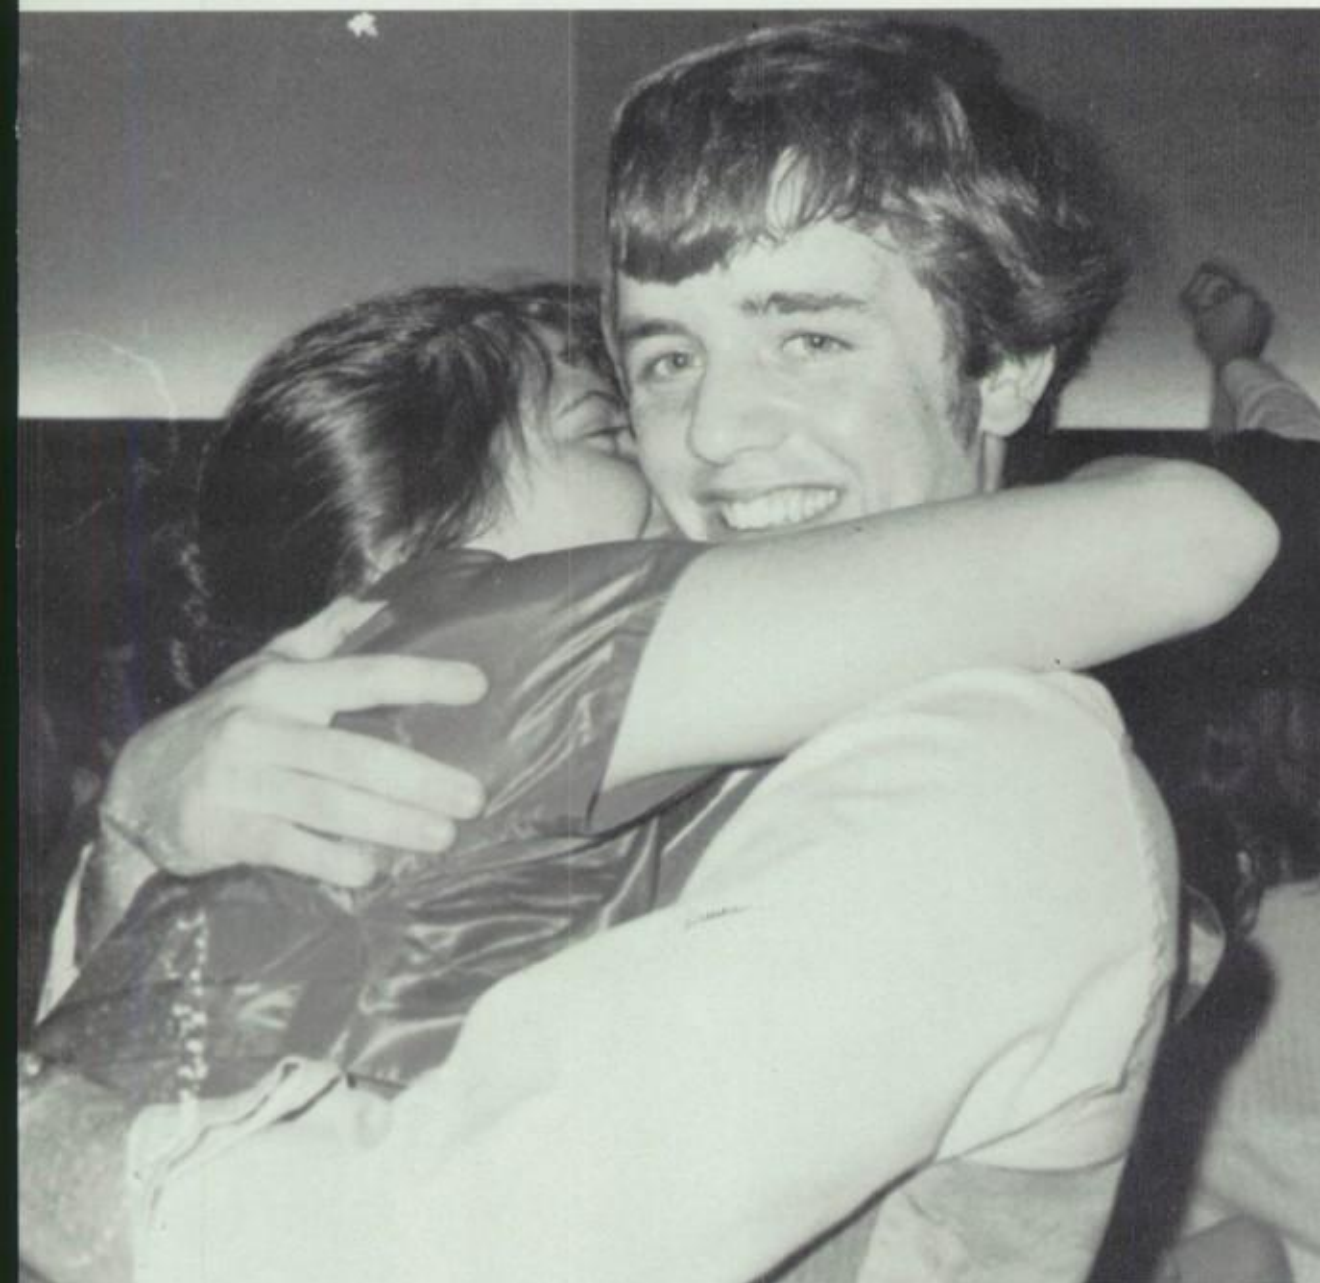

This is a decision probably everyone of us is facing. Leaving high school begins our decision making, independence, responsibility, and finding out who we really are. Many of us will be leaving home for the first time. So are we aware of the new and unfamiliar problems that we might have to face?

Some of us may attend college. Some may join the armed forces, and some may work or travel. For those of us who will go to college, there are millions of small decisions we have to make, ranging from meeting new friends to mapping our own schedule to choosing a major. In college we decide what to do yet we have the responsibility to get the work done on time. Those who will have jobs will need just as much responsibility. College or a career, unlike high school, is not a ready-made world. It is up to us to decide who we really are.

Thanks

Just like lonely number 20, Mrs. Gillum, Pa and Nancy sat alone in the yearbook room and finished this book.

This is the page where the Reynolian is supposed to say thanks to everyone who helped make this book possible, so here it goes.

Thanks Joyce — for the color Senior Pictures and group shots. The book would not be as unique as it is now without them.

Thanks Paul — for printing pictures and being patient and helpful. Without you, the book would have been a goner.

Thanks Mrs. Gillum — Your magic fingers typed many pages of copy. You deserve a hand!

Thanks Mrs. Eftimoff — Your magic fingers were appreciated too!

Thanks Nancy — for forgetting about your summer and contributing 180 pages to the book!
